BANDIT OPERATIONS TODAY RESULT IN TWO DEATHS AND LOSS OF THOUSANDS

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 19.—Two men believed to have robbed a mail car on the Northern Coast Limited of the Northern Pacific of $300,000 were captured at Little Falls, Minn., today after a running revolver fight with detectives.

One of the detectives and one of the alleged bandits were wounded in the fight. C. E. Strong, mail clerk, was wounded when he attempted to escape from the bandits. The loot was not recovered. The men captured gave their names as Buck Allen and Bob Ford. The train was held up at Bailey, Minn. The bandits had boarded the car at St. Cloud. Mail Clerk Strong was forced to bind up the two other clerks and he was forced into a locker. When Strong attempted to escape he was shot. The members of the train crew did not know of the robbery until they found the clerks when they arrived at Minneapolis. The bandits left the train in the suburbs of Minneapolis.

FEDERAL RAILROAD WAGE BOARD TO MAKE DECISIONS EARLY IN APRIL

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Decision of the Federal Railroad Labor Board on petition of the railroads for the right to reduce wages and abrogate some of the national agreements will be handed down during April according to indications today. Decision as to whether the boards shall be local or national in scope in settling the open shop question will also probably come up in April.

TWO SUSPECTS IN DOUBLE MURDER ARRESTED

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19.—Two suspects were held here today in connection with the brutal slaying of two school teachers on Bean Road 3 miles from here. One of the suspects had deep scars under each eye. Officers expected to have the men view the bodies of Miss Louise Wolf and Miss Maile Foote, the victims, today.

HUGHES APPOINTMENT OFFICIAL NOW

ST. AUGUSTINE, Feb. 19.—The appointment of Charles E. Hughes as Secretary of State in Harding's cabinet was officially announced today.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—"Caruso spent the very best night since his relapse and slept comfortably, Dr. Francis Murray announced at 8 a. m. today.

$10,000 VERDICT IS GIVEN IN KELLY CASE AGAINST THE PENNSY

The damage suit of Mrs. Delir Kelly vs. the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which occupied the attention of civil court all this week, ended this morning when the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $10,000.

Mrs. Kelly brought suit against the railroad company for the death of her husband, the late "Woody" Kelly, who with Dr. Kalfus, secretary of the State Game Commission was instantly killed when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a train at the Saybrook crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad in Warren county. The accident occurred in August, 1919.

The case was one of the most bitterly contested in the Clearfield county courts in recent years. The plaintiff was represented by Messrs. John C. Arnold and James A. Gleason, while O'Laughlin, Kelley and Fenerty appeared for the railroad company.

A determined fight was made by the attorneys for the defense to have the case non-suited at the conclusion of the plaintiff's testimony, but Judge Bell ruled the findings of fact were a matter for the jury and overruled the motion.

The case was given to the jury at 2:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The jury wrestled with the matter until about 10 o'clock last night when it returned a sealed verdict which was opened when court convened at 9 o'clock this morning.

The case will no doubt be appealed to the superior or supreme court by the railroad company.

ALLEN DAMAGE SUIT ON TRIAL AT CIVIL COURT

At the conclusion of the Kelly case in civil court yesterday afternoon the personal damage suit of John A. Allen, Jr., against the B. & P. Railway Company was called for trial.

This suit grows out of an accident which happened at a grade crossing in the city of DuBois back in 1916. Allen, then a lad of 16 years, was run down and very seriously injured when he attempted to cross the railroad tracks. The lad was on the east side of the double track at the crossing and started to cross immediately following the passing of a train on the northbound track. As he stepped onto the southbound track a second train backed down and he was struck by the leading box car and very badly injured about the head and leg.

The principal witnesses for the plaintiff were Dr. Jordan, of DuBois, the physician who attended the boy through his subsequent long illness and different operations, Mike Devine, who witnessed the accident, and Dr. Lever F. Stewart, of Clearfield, who made an examination of the boy a few days ago.

The case is being prosecuted by John C. Arnold and Hazard A. Murray, while Miller and Hartwick represent the railroad company. The testimony of the plaintiff was completed at 10 o'clock this morning following which Mr. Miller moved for a compulsory non-suit on the ground of contributory negligence on the part of the boy by reason of his failure to look for a train on the southbound track before attempting to cross over.

Mrs. W. I. Swope spent today shopping in Altoona. Miss Ruth Norris has returned to her home here after spending the past six weeks in Philadelphia and Baltimore.

The End of A Perfect Day

C. H. S. CRUSHES REYNOLDSVILLE BY SCORE OF 80-16

But Both the Other Top Notchers Win Too So the Three Old Leaders Are Still in Triple Tie.

CLEARFIELD HAS EDGE

By Dick Leipold
By amazing the largest score that any team in the Clearfield league has rolled up since its organization, Clearfield High defeated the Reynoldsville High quintet on the local floor last evening and after the avalanche was cleared away it was found that Clearfield had rolled up 80 points to Reynoldsville's 16, not including a few extra baskets that were not counted, owing to the referee's whistle, who's ruling made the baskets drop two points below par in value.

Reynoldsville put up a fine game at the start, and had the Red and Black working hard for about three minutes, then the county seat scoring machine got started and quickly piled up a safe lead, at the same time holding the Jefferson county boys to seven points, one field goal and five fouls, Schettino, the visitors' captain and star forward, making every point. Score first half, C. H. S., 27; R. H. S., 7.

The second half the Clearfield five turned the game into a regular marathon, and kept the scorers as busy as Clearfield's alarmist scandal mongers, Ammerman and Neff dropping the ball through from all positions, and the only question was, "How high will they run up the score?"

"Hody" Johnson, who took Martin's place at forward during the last period, jumped into the scoring list by caging two field goals. Johnson is a comer and will undoubtedly be one of C. H. S.'s stars in the near future.

"Bill" Ammerman, without a doubt, was the star of last evening's contest, for it was Ammerman who started C. H. S. moving in the first session by registering four field goals in rapid succession, one being from mid-floor. During the whole game Bill tallied 40 points, or 20 baskets.

Captain Neff was second with 12 double deckers and 10 fouls for a total of 34 points, while Johnson and Bowes scored two and one baskets, respectively.

Norris and Bowes filled the guard posts faultlessly, Norris preventing his man from scoring a basket, while Schettino rang up but two field goals during the entire game. Martin, the Red and Black's flashy little forward, was not at his best last evening, but played a hard game while in the fray. Final score, C. H. S., 80; R. H. S., 16.

Lineup and summary:
Clearfield Reynoldsville
Ammerman F. Schettino
Martin F. Eisenhuth
Neff C. Reddehoff
Norris G. Moore
Bowes G. Jones

MRS. JOHN CHAPLIN PASSES AWAY AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Ida B. Dale Chaplin, wife of John S. Chaplin, died at the Clearfield Hospital this morning at 7 o'clock as the result of a complication of disease following a long illness.

The deceased, a daughter of the late A. C. Dale, one of Bradford township's representative citizens, was united in marriage with John S. Chaplin and to this union was born three sons, A. C. Dale Chaplin, Byron L. and Lyle G., all of whom, with their father, survive to mourn the loss of a most devoted wife and mother. One brother, George J. Dale, of Graham township, and one sister, Mrs. G. E. Shivery, of Woodland, also survive.

Mrs. Chaplin has lived in Clearfield almost her entire married life and was loved and respected by a very wide circle of friends. She was a most consistent member of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church and possessed a sweet, Christian character which moved her to take a deep interest in the work of her church. She was also a member of D. A. R.

The death of this good woman is a distinct loss to our community and her family has the heartfelt sympathy of Clearfield people generally in their bereavement.

The funeral will be held from the Chaplin home on Nichols street Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Her pastor, the Rev. W. W. Hartman, will officiate and interment will be made in Hillcrest cemetery.

12; Johnson, 2; Bowes; Schettino, 2; Eisenhuth. Foul goals, Neff, 10 out of 17; Schettino, 10 out of 19. Scorers, Ventres, Timer, Heisey. Referee, Harris.

DuBois Loses to Punxy, 26-23

Last evening the DuBois H. S. outplayed the Punxy five on the third class city team's floor, only to lose out in the closing minutes of the game. DuBois led the Jefferson county team at the end of the first half 11-8, and at one time during the second half led 17 to 10, but Punxy's work at the foul line gave the ground hog villagers a narrow margin victory, 26-23.

Brookville also had trouble in winning from the New Bethlehem team, the final score being 29-25 in favor of Brookville. Thus the triple tie for first place still exists.

League Standing
The standing of the league at the conclusion of last evening's game is as follows:
W. L. Pct.
Clearfield 6 1 .857
Brookville 6 1 .857
Punxsutawney 6 1 .857
DuBois 2 5 .286
New Bethlehem 1 6 .143
Reynoldsville 0 7 .000
The DuBois Courier has the following to say of the league situation:
The exercises were interspersed with singing by the audience. At the close of the exercises refreshments were served, and a social hour enjoyed, after which all returned to their homes, expressing themselves as much pleased with the entertainment, and with the addition of the silver to their treasury.

CLEARFIELD BOY HEARD FROM AFTER 20 YEARS

Thomas Bannon, Clearfield street, recently received a letter from his brother, James Bannon, whom the family had not heard from since his leaving Clearfield 20 years ago. The letter was written from McCarthy Alaska, where young Bannon has been hunting, trapping and acting as a guide during the past 15 years or more.

"Outdoor Life" for June contains an article written by Jimmy, who is known as "Brownie" by his pals, in which he describes the experiences of himself and a companion named Campbell, when caught in an Alaskan blizzard January 2, 1920. The men undertook a 100 mile trip with a seven dog team over the Alaskan wastes and were caught in a terrific blizzard. After being storm bound three days they were forced to abandon their outfit and make for a relief cabin along the trail. The weather was so severe the dogs would not accompany, and while the men finally succeeded in getting through alive, all but one of the dogs gave up their lives in the storm.

Bannon lost part of one hand and the big toe off one foot as the result of the freezing he got. The magazine contained a picture of the daring guide taken at the hospital when he was recuperating from his terrible hardships.

In his letter to his home folks Bannon says he had been reading the Grit but never saw any names he knew in it, with the exception of the name of Ira McClosky as a candidate for sheriff. He hoped his boyhood friend had succeeded in winning.

W. C. T. U. ENJOY SOCIAL

A W. C. T. U. social was held in the Presbyterian church yesterday evening. The ticket of admission was a little sock containing silver. The short program comprised scripture reading by the president; prayer by Mrs. Howard, followed by a reading and talk by Mrs. McCord, being a short history of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, beginning with the "Crusade" in Ohio 45 years ago, when sanctified women knelt in the streets and prayed for the removal of the curse. Mrs. McCord was the one woman present who had the honor of having seen Frances Willard in our own state, in our Capital City. Following this Edward Hile favored the audience with a beautiful selection, after which the young man and Mrs. Carrie Smith pleased with a duet on the piano. Miss Grace Underwood then favored with a pretty solo.

The exercises were interspersed with singing by the audience. At the close of the exercises refreshments were served, and a social hour enjoyed, after which all returned to their homes, expressing themselves as much pleased with the entertainment, and with the addition of the silver to their treasury.

Burton Young, of Cochocton, O., is visiting relatives here at present.

PHILIPSBURG TO MORRISDALE ROAD CONTRACT IS LET

Only a Slight Decrease in Road Building Cost Is Figured by The Many Contractors Who Bid.

NEARLY $70,000 A MILE

Harrisburg, Feb. 19.—Contracts for road building awarded by the State Highway Department included Clearfield county, 25,426 feet, awarded to L. E. Kelly, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The bid was $334,415.80.

A slight reduction of the construction cost of state highways was indicated yesterday when the state highway department opened approximately 130 bids on 26 projects totaling 101 miles of durable highway. The break in prices, attributed by department officials to an easing up of the labor situation and improved transportation facilities, is expected to become more marked later, when prices of material which are still high begin the downward trend.

Most of the reductions were slight as compared to bids canceled last year on some of the same projects for which bids were opened today. The most notable reduction was a difference of more than $70,000 on a stretch of road approximately six miles long in Williams township Northampton county, which was among the bids rejected last year. Another bid for little more than half a mile in Somerset county showed a difference of $16,000 less than last year.

Low bids on projects in eastern counties were:

Bradford—1,046 feet, Ulster township, $14,609, Brookville Concrete Engineering Company, Brookville.

Bucks—36,706, Warrington and Doylestown townships, and Doylestown borough on Doylestown Philadelphia route, $456,900, Ambler Davis Company, Philadelphia.

Delaware—12,077 feet, Upper Darby and Haverford townships, Philadelphia-West Chester route, $118,129, Vicenzo Di Francesco, Llanerel Northampton—34,871 feet, Williams township, Doylestown-Easton route, $359,311, Brillhart Brothers Bethlehem.

Northumberland—26,200 feet, Shamokin, Rockefeller and Unpo Augusta townships, $506,203, Christiano and Kumer, Shamokin.

Tioga—41,843 feet, Mansfield and Tioga boroughs, Richmond and Tiog townships, connecting Wellsboro and New York line, $566,464, Frank I Cohen, Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW FISH AND GAME BILLS ARE READY FOR PASSAGE

The fish and game bills have been reported to the House at Harrisburg by the committees having them in charge, and they will be taken up for early passage just as soon as the assembly reconvenes the week of February 26th.

The House game committee has recommended amendments to the game code providing a small game season for November with exception of woodcock on which the season is left as at present, covering October and November. The committee also favored an amendment which would protect red squirrels from August 16 to November 1, while the bill to forbid killing of bucks unless they have a certain number of prongs on antlers was changed so as to include bucks with horns eight inches in length whether with prongs or not.

The state fishermen's license bill, which it is estimated will provide over half a million dollars for the use of the state department of fisheries on the same plan as the hunters' license bill furnishes funds for the Game Commission work, was reported to the House from the ways and means committee at the afternoon session. This action followed a hearing on the bill at which Commissioner of Fisheries N. R. Buller and David Pritchard, of Scranton, were speakers. It is the intention to amend the bill so that it will not apply to owners of land through which stream flows or upon which they abut.

The committee also favored the bill to give the commission power to revoke hunters' licenses for flagrant offenses.

Consideration of the bill to amend the bill so that it will not apply to owners of land through which stream flows or upon which they abut.

With the addition of the silver to their treasury.

TESTS CONDUCTED AT STEEL PLANT LAST EVENING

Which May Result In New Capital Being Interested In The Henning Processes.

TESTS ARE SECRET

A light appearing in the nickel department of the Nickel-Alloys Company plant last night led many living in the vicinity of the plant to believe that a resumption of operation in the next day or so was contemplated but information which The Progress has indicates that it will be some little time before there is any work done at what we usually call the steel plant.

The nickel department of the plant was being operated last night only for the purpose of making a test which might possibly result in the plant operating in the future.

Making this test last night were Dr. C. T. Henning, G. B. Bassett, Jr., of Pittsburgh, and V. Hybinette. Mr. Hybinette is reputed to be one of the most expert men in the nickel manufacturing trade and represents interests which are of international scope. His people, we understand, simply manufacture nickel but do not have the process for malleablizing such as is used by the Nickel-Alloys Company and by which raw nickel can be drawn and rolled.

We understand that the purpose of Mr. Hybinette's visit here is to ascertain whether the product of his mills can be malleablized or put in a working condition by the Nickel-Alloys process. Considerable secrecy surrounded the making of the test.

The Nickel-Alloy Company has asked through a rather strenuous me in the last six months or so. E. J. Walmsley, who we understand is an attorney for the Atlas Powder company, was appointed temporary receiver pending a hearing which was held January 12. The Bassett interests objected to this receiver-ship on the ground that the Philadelphia court, which appointed the receiver, had no jurisdiction. On Monday Joseph Gillilan, of Philadelphia, was appointed permanent receiver and it is understood that he called on Thursday of this week.

It is rumored that Bassett and Henning agreed to finance the plant's future to the extent of something over $10,000 and no doubt the visit of Mr. Hybinette to the mill to conduct test is the result of an effort on their part to attract new capital.

There is considerable contention between the Bassett interests and the Webster interests and it is said that before the test was conducted last night Messrs. Bassett and Henning were compelled to make a deposit or give a guarantee for the expenses of the test and possible damages.

Whether the test will result in the plant's reopening or not, it is estimated that the test will provide over half a million dollars for the use of the state department of fisheries on the same plan as the hunters' license bill furnishes funds for the Game Commission work, was reported to the House from the ways and means committee at the afternoon session. This action followed a hearing on the bill at which Commissioner of Fisheries N. R. Buller and David Pritchard, of Scranton, were speakers. BUSINESS AND TRADE

With Special Attention to Coal, Clay and Brick
Trade News of Local Interest.

POSTPONING THE ISSUE IS NOT MEETING IT

The possibility of the Calder bill for coal control passing either or both houses during the present session of Congress, in the opinion of shrewd observers of political developments at Washington, may be set down at zero. The responsible leaders of the majority party, who believe, with President-elect Harding, that there should be more business in government and less government in business, are outspoken in their opposition to the socialistic proposals of the senator from New York. The appropriation bill, made worse by the minority filibuster on the emergency tariff legislation, acts as a barrier against permitting any more controversial measures reaching the floor of the senate.

This analysis, which squares with the facts of the existing situation at the national capital, is comforting, but it offers no lasting security to business. The same statesmen who condemned the Calder plan also set their faces against the live-stock commission bill. Yet that latter measure, actively championed by one of the Calder's conservative leading the attack upon the coal trade, passed the senate by a vote of 46 to 31. There is no binding guaranty that some unexpected legislative fluke will allow the senator from New York to place S. B. 4828 on the calendar. The chances, however, are admittedly against it.

The only advantage that accrues to the friends of individualism in the present situation at Washington is that of time. Whether the Calder bill dies in committee or perishes in its journey from the committee to the floor of the senate, the measure that it and allied legislative proposals create still lives. Assuming that no action is taken between now and March 4, the identical bill can be resurrected and reintroduced at the next session of Congress. The issue of national policy remains and must be met.

A definite decision must be reached upon the question of whether private enterprise is to continue free to develop along the lines that have made thus the greatest commercial nation of the world or whether business is to become a mere political appendage of a paternalistic government. In brief, it is the real desire of the American people that, under a thinly disguised substitute for bolshevistic expropriation of capital, all commercial ambition and enterprise are to be reduced to the dead-level of failure?

Nothing can be gained by dodging the question. While the additional time given by Washington developments will be most welcome for the purposes of study, business should neither expect nor desire to temporize indefinitely upon the issue. It can not make known whether it wishes to remain independent or be-

THREE MINE WORKERS OUT OF FOUR UNIONIZED; ONE OUT OF SIXTEEN IDLE

Because of strikes in Alabama and West Virginia and lack of employment and disability among miners elsewhere, more than 50,000 members of the United Mine Workers of America were unemployed in December, according to a report given out at international headquarters of the union, in Indianapolis. The total paid up membership last month was 553,295. As the total number of coal mine workers in the country is about 800,000, the industry is now about 75 per cent unionized, said Ellis Searles, editor of the United Mine Workers' Journal. Mr. Searles said that the December membership broke all records, the highest previous paid enrollment being 524,636, in October, 1919. Many strikers in Alabama and West Virginia, exonerated from paying dues, are omitted in the enumeration.

TURNS OVER MINE TO CREDITOR EMPLOYEES

The Shelby Coal and Clay Company, of Indianapolis, has turned its Kokomo mines, west of Brazil, Ind., over to its 60 employees. When the mine workers called for their pay January 14, they were notified by Ed. Huffman, superintendent, that the company had no money where-with to meet its payroll and that he had decided to turn the mine over to them.

The mine workers held a mass meeting to decide what to do with the mine. They appointed a committee to seek legal advice and to bring receivership proceedings for the possession of the property. The company's payroll amounted to about $6,000, in addition to which there is said to be approximately $4,000 due the men for work since January 1. The miners have not decided whether they will sell the property or attempt to operate it on the co-operative plan.

WANT ANYTHING IN- VESTIGATED? TELL CONGRESS ABOUT IT

By RALPH H. TURNER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—"Investigating" continues to be one of the most popular pastimes of Congress. The cost of these investigations, one Senator announced the other day, has reached "scandalous proportions." He didn't indicate the exact extent of this cost. He didn't know. No one does.

There is one investigation yet to be ordered—namely, the high cost of investigating.

But another investigation, conducted by the United Press, reveals that during the Sixty-sixth Congress alone (the present one) resolutions have been introduced asking for 212 investigations. Only sixty of these resolutions, it is true, were passed, but the larger figure indicates that the Congressional penchant for investigating still thrives.

Every conceivable subject is covered in the "probes" which Congress desires. Here are a few of them:

Substitutes for railroad crossings. Socialistic activities in the Federal Trade Commission.

Alleged chemical treatment of foods.

Garden, city and suburb movement in Europe.

Feasibility of using saccharin as substitute for sugar.

Suspension of a Washington school teacher.

Discrimination against individual hackmen in District of Columbia.

The troubles bothering the American people are reflected to considerable extent by the number and nature of proposed investigations. Thus, the high cost of living is covered by at least a dozen different resolutions, touching upon every imaginable phase of that problem. The same is true of coal prices, ex-service men, housing situation and Mexico.

Congress also is concerned with:

The detention of Dr. William T. Ellis in Cairo.

A British embargo on the sailing of an Argentine steamship.

Acceptance of gifts by the President.

Incompetence and loss of prestige in the war.

Whether Henry Ford benefited from the improvement of River Rouge, Mich.

The prices of men's collars.

Income-tax dodging.

Some of the resolutions are never even voted on. Sometimes, the investigations are approved, but never started. Sometimes, they start but are never concluded. Again, there are investigations which have been completed, but the result hasn't been announced.

It is difficult to figure the cost of these inquiries because no two are conducted in the same way. The cost will depend on the length of the investigation. In some instances, counsel is employed and must be paid. And then there is the expense of stenography and printing. Frequently, traveling and other expenses for witnesses must be paid.

DRINK HOT WATER
BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with coated tongue, foul breath or a dull headache; or if your meals sour and ferment, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

Tomorrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is, in tendency to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweet-ening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to headaches, backaches, bilious attacks, constipation or stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying the morning inside bath.

Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

Jerry Smith, of Stoneboro, spent yesterday in Clearfield.

Mrs. Ralph Sinclair and daughter, Jennie, of Hawk Run, were shopping in town yesterday.

Harvey Baird, of Lock Haven, spent the day with friends here.

Charles Freeman, of Canton, O., was in town yesterday on business.

MRS. P. GRAY MEEK PASSES AWAY AT BELLEFONTE

Bellefonte has just lost another of its most highly esteemed residents in the death of Mrs. Susanna Mary Meek, widow of the late Hon. P. Gray Meek, who passed away at the family home on Tuesday afternoon, having taken suddenly ill the previous day.

Deceased was a daughter of George W. and Rachel Barron Meek, and was born in Ferguson township, Centre county, on May 20, 1844, making her age 77 years, 8 months and 25 days. In January, 1862, she married her cousin, P. Gray Meek. Soon after they located in Bellefonte, where they continued to reside, and where for many years her husband conducted the Democratic Watchman. Her life ended just within a day of the second anniversary of the passing away of her husband. Mrs. Meek had since her girlhood been a devoted member of the Methodist church. She was a woman of exceptional pleasing personality, and possessed of many charming graces that won for her the love and esteem of a very large circle of friends.

She is survived by the following children: Mary Gray Meek and Elizabeth Breckenridge Meek, of Bellefonte; Dr. Eloise Meek, instructor in Cornell University, N. Y.; Winifred Barron Meek, wife of Thomas King Morris, Pittsburgh; and George Reuben Meek, Bellefonte.

The funeral took place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence, Dr. E. H. Yocum and the Rev. Alexander Scott officiating.

They'll Never Believe This.

One thing negligent and inefficient parents should remember. The legislature will never have wisdom enough to do successfully for children at a distance what parents fail and neglect to do on the spot. The legislature can't reach the spot.—Houston Post.

"As Short as It Is Violent."

"Woman's grief is like a summer storm, short as it is violent." The foregoing quotation is credited to Joanna Baillie, a Scotch dramatist and poet. She wrote "Plays on the Passions," in which she delineates the principal passions of the mind, each passion being made the subject of a tragedy and a comedy. She died in 1831.

PENNSYLVANIA RAIL BILL
FOR 1920 IS $11,990,000

Approximately 95,000 tons of new steel rails and 5,900,000 new cross ties were used in 1920 by the Pennsylvania Railroad in replacing old and worn trackage. The cost approximated $11,990,000. This is the net cost of the new material and represents a saving of $2,400,000 in the salvage of the replaced rails.

Of the new rails laid 82,500 tons, or 87 per cent, were of 130 pounds. The rails cost approximately $48 a ton, an increase of 20 per cent. over 1919 and of 65 per cent. over 1910. Cross ties cost 32 per cent. more in 1920 than in 1910 and 153 per cent. more than ten years ago.

This new equipment, you will notice has all been purchased under government guarantee which gives the railroad company six per cent. interest on its capital stock, in addition to such other expenses. Travel along any railroad under this beneficial arrangement and please note the rails, ties, and other replacements. Then, too, these rail, tie and other supply concerns are supposed or alleged to be owned and controlled by railroad directors or stockholders.

Home Brewers, Bottle Stoppers, Self Adorners and others of the Clan of the Supremely Thirsty: Beware!

That rumbling, hip-roaring glow of content, pride, hilarity and general "bumpiness"—even the dread of the morning after—are merely a manifestation of acidity, a menace to a man's interior decorations and a bane on longevity.

Putting it plainly, the stomachs of men are being ruined by home brew, according to some of our hi-brow medical authorities. We know several fellows who propose to take a chance on another brew or two, stomach or no stomach.

CRIMINAL COURT NEXT WEEK

The law is made to shelter those who hate and will not heed it; Strange how the legal system goes; The law is for its bitter foes; No other people need it.

Of all white children born in America the average age at death will be sixty for males and sixty-four for females, writes Arthur Benington in the Popular Science Monthly. The officials of the Life Extension Institute will prove to you that the expectation of life for men and women who have passed forty has actually decreased and is steadily decreasing. Dr. E. E. Rittenhouse tells us that there are always 1,500,000 Americans ill with preventable diseases; that four out of every ten deaths are preventable or could have been prevented.

Dr. E. Lyman Fisk tells us that of 28,000,000 men between the ages of eighteen and sixty 8,500,000 show evidences of approaching disease or already have it.

It is illuminating to read the causes of death. In 1917—a typical year in which the figures were not complicated by the war—14.2 of every thousand persons in the United States died; out of every hundred thousand deaths 153.2 were from diseases of the heart, 149.8 from pneumonia, 146.4 from tuberculosis, 107.4 from kidney troubles, 82.9 from apoplexy, 81.6 from cancer, 79 from diarrhoea, 25.3 from diseases of the arteries, 17.2 from influenza, 16.9 from diabetes, 16.5 from diphtheria, 10.3 from bronchitis, 108.8 from accidents of all sorts. Arterial diseases and diabetes show an increase that is really alarming; for in 1900 only 6.1 per 100,000 died of the former and only 9.7 of the latter. These, with those of the heart and kidneys, are diseases that result directly from the strain and stress of modern life.

COMPENSATION FOR FRIEND
WIFE

Husbands would be placed in the status of employers, with their wives as employees in their homes, and permitted to recover damages for injuries received while performing household duties, under the terms of a bill introduced in the Kansas House of Representatives by Mrs. Minnie J. Grinstead, representative from Sedgewick county. The measure was the first to be offered by one of Kansas' two women representatives.

Despite the fact that there are but four women in both houses of the Kansas Legislature, as compared with 169 men, Mrs. Grinstead expressed confidence that her bill would meet with approval.

More deer are killed annually in Clearfield county than in any other county in the state and Clearfield county hunters think their idea as to the "spike buck" law should have some consideration at Harrisburg.

OHIO CHAMP FOOTBALL TEAM IS COMPOSED OF LEGION MEN

OHIO STATE'S 1920 ELEVEN IN ACTION.

Left to Right—Slyker (E), Spiers (T), Trott (G), Nemecek (G), Weiche (G), Huffman (T and captain), Taylor (E). Backfield—Workman, quarterback, has just passed the ball to Dolg, with Stinchcomb and Cott forming interference.

When the Ohio State university football team, champions of the Western conference, hit the line, it had much of the Chateau-Thierry and Argonne punch with it, for ten of the eleven regulars composing the first team are war veterans and members of the American Legion. Moreover, the team, which defeated Illinois university for the conference title, was coached by a Legionnaire.

Legionnaires on the team say that the only reason why the team is not all Legion is because Harry Workman, sophomore quarterback, was too young to enter the service. Seventeen members of the first squad are Legionnaires.

Ohio State won from Chicago, Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Oberlin and Ohio Wesleyan and scored 58 points in conference games against 20 for its opponents. American Legion members carried the ball over the goal lines for 14 touchdowns out of a total of 20 made by the team during the 1920 season and also scored five of its touchdowns out of seven made against conference teams.

The optimist and the pessimist can both find consolation in the price named by the contractors for the building of state road this season. One will say it is a good sign that business is not going to drop plunk to the bow wows and the latter will say that the price is prohibitive and no more roads should be built.

Let's go ahead. It's a short life and we don't want to wallow in mud when our joints become rheumatic.

SPEAKER SPANGLER'S ENERGY

Among the critics of Speaker Spangler in connection with some of his actions during the previous term was the Progress. It is merely just to say that the speaker has evidently turned over a new leaf. Not long ago we mentioned a commendable action by him. Now we observe that he has warned members that hereafter Thursday will be a full legislative day instead of a humbug, as has long been from a legislative standpoint. The speaker announces that business will be done after the legislature reconvenes on the 28th inst., so that if members remain absent and any disaster overtakes one of their favorite legislative bantlings they will have nobody to blame but themselves. The speaker's action is along the line of increased service, something urgently needed not only at Harrisburg, but elsewhere throughout almost the entire country.

THE WOMEN'S PARTY

Before the enfranchisement of women there was an admitted necessity for a Women's Party in this country. The women were compelled to demonstrate their actual anxiety for the ballot before they could persuade any considerable number of men that they were really in earnest. It was also true of women—as it has always been of the disfranchised—that they suffered under many injustices of law and custom. It was necessary for active, energetic and earnest women to work for the elevation of their sex. At the present moment, however, we do not think the same urgency exists. It would be just as proper to organize a Men's party. At the same time women have still some wrongs to be righted and they are doing the right thing when they formulate those wrongs and assist that the two great parties enter with energy into the work of redressing them.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The price of food has dropped 21.5 in the past month Ethelbert Stewart, government price expert, announced today. Food prices six months ago reached the peak of prices which had been increasing since the war. Stewart realized the percentage from data collected by the Labor Department on over 50 articles. The decrease of 21.5 per cent is an average. Some articles dropped more than this such as sugar and potatoes which dropped 30 per cent.

Protecting Grain Shipments

National Crop Improvement Service. IN THE old days before the grain exchanges undertook to protect both buyer and seller in the handling of each grain on track, there was constant friction between the railroads, which attempted at that time to favor certain large shippers as against the smaller shippers. There was also a great amount of thieving done, and under the primitive methods of inspection and custody there were serious losses of grain. Now, however, the grain exchanges have taken the matter into their own hands and the grain inspectors is evident, and they seem to vie with each other to see which can render the most service to the trade at all times.

In addition to the watchmen's service which is maintained in the railroad yards, after the state samplers have taken their samples of grain the board of trade inspectors makes note of all cars so opened and reseals them with another seal, so that both parties to the trade may know that the car has not been tampered with after breaking the first seal.

A GREAT HELP

"I SUPPOSE you do your own washing, ma'am?" inquired the sooty stranger.

"Yes, I do, although I don't see that it's any of your business," replied Mrs. Curfew, with some warmth.

"I suppose you'll be telling me that you're collecting statistics for a government bureau, or maybe for the state board of health. It seems that the authorities are greatly interested in family matters that don't concern them nowadays, and every day or two somebody comes along asking impertinent questions as to how many children I have, and my maiden name before I was married, and whether there's insanity in the family."

"I'm sick and tired of answering such questions. If my old friends want to dig into my family history, I'll give them all the information they want, although I may consider their commentaries in bad taste, but when a perfect stranger comes along and asks me if I do my own washing, I feel that the line must be drawn somewhere. Every jack in office asks questions. It used to be that the assessor would come to the door politely, and inquire how many dogs we kept, and take our estimate of the value of our property without looking as though he knew we ought to be prosecuted for perjury. But now he must know the color of your grandfather's side whiskers, and if you tell him that you keep no dogs he goes out and looks under the house, and in the barn, and when he comes back he warns you that the penalties for giving false information are severe."

"Mr. Curfew says that the next time the assessor comes, he is going to throw him over the back fence and kick him down the alley for a distance of seven blocks, and I hope he'll keep his word."

"I didn't mean to offend you," said the stranger. "I'm introducing a washing powder that saves half the labor, and dispenses with soap altogether. With this marvelous powder a woman can do the week's washing and have her clothes hung on the line, inside of two hours."

"Well, mister, you take a package of your marvelous powder down to the creek, and give yourself a good scrubbing, for you look as though you had been fishing out of somebody's dustbin. Your whiskers are full of sawdust, and your face is covered with grime. If you were introducing bituminous coal, there might be some excuse for your appearance, but a man who is selling washing powder ought to be like the driven snow, or nobody will have confidence in him."

"And I wouldn't have anything to do with your washing powder if you offered to bring me a wagonload for twenty cents. I make my own soap of lye and grease, and although it isn't indorsed by the crowned heads of Europe, or by prelates or vice presidents, it's the best soap ever made, and I know the ingredients are whole some, even if they don't comprise barks and buds and healing herbs."

"When I use my own soap, I know the things I wash won't be any the worse for it, but the washing powders sold by agents are made of dynamite and lunar caustic, and a garment once washed with them will never be fit to use again."

"Last spring I was feeling too poorly to make the usual batch of soap, so I bought a package of washing powder from an agent who had his pockets full of testimonials showing that he was a man of high moral character. It happened that week that all of Mr. Curfew's white shirts were in the wash. Mr. Curfew is very particular about his shirts. They must be as white as arctic snow, or the way he raves around the house is a disgrace. Well, I wish you could have seen those shirts after they were washed. They had an old gold color, and have been getting yellower ever since, and Mr. Curfew never sits down but he speaks about it and makes things uncomfortable."

"So you had better toddle along and sell your washing powder to some woman who doesn't know how to make good soap."

A Column of News and Timely Topics for the Man Who Feeds the World

WE MUST MAINTAIN OUR FOREIGN TRADE

Maintenance of our foreign trade and its extension wherever possible is imperative to the prosperity of the American farmer. Seldom has this been more strongly emphasized than in recent months during which financial conditions abroad have resulted in a material reduction in the exportation of farm products. Prices have dropped, demand has fallen off, and farmers today the country over are discussing co-operative methods of holding their products for more auspicious marketing conditions. Farmers' holdings have decreased in value millions of dollars the last six months.

Just what demand for all he could produce would mean to the farmer was forcibly brought home to him during the war period. Just what means of production he could perform was incidentally illustrated in this period when thousands of farmers were wearing the khaki at the front, for even so handicapped he increased his production more often than otherwise. And this increased production, supplemented with the tremendous increase in values, brought him the most profitable period in all his farming career.

In recent years, according to the statistics of the Department of Agriculture, approximately one-fourth of the product of the American farms is marketed abroad. In 1919 more than one-half our exports, 55 per cent to be exact, were agricultural products. For the decade preceding the war agricultural products aggregated 46 per cent of the whole exportation, and for the five years preceding the war they averaged 53 per cent. "It is essential to the prosperity of the farmers that a steady stream of farm products be kept flowing to foreign markets," Secretary Meredith declared recently. Farmers generally will agree that he was right.

Systematic and co-operative effort on the part of the leading farm associations must result before the farmer will reap the full harvest of his toil. Co-operation is the spirit of the times and the farmer must keep pace with it. Not only will he be required to join hands at home but he will have to organize for foreign trade extension if he is to enjoy the fruits of such extension rather than the other fellow who all these years has been taking the big profits by handling his production abroad.

These organizations should be represented at the eighth annual convention of the National Foreign Trade Council at Cleveland, May 4 to 7. This conference will be the outstanding foreign trade extension effort of the year. It will assemble representatives of the export business from coast to coast, from the lakes to the gulf. Every interest is mutual. America is about to embark upon the greatest foreign trade campaign in the national history. Agriculture has never been adequately represented in this movement in the past. It should join the procession. Shipping conditions in the immediate future will be more than ever favorable. Since the beginning of the war period American tonnage has increased from approximately 4,000,000 tons to something near 13,000,000 tons. Today we stand second to England. Properly handled there will be ample American bottoms to carry every pound of American foreign shipping for some years to come. And agriculture is or should be interested in seeing that full advantage is taken of this condition.

While in the past cotton and wheat have always led the procession in agricultural exports, cotton with from 65 to 70 per cent of the annual production and wheat ranging all the way from 8 per cent in 1904 to 40 per cent in 1879 and 37 per cent in 1913, other surprising developments came with the war period. Condensed milk, for instance, jumped from $1,000,000 in 1913 to $100,000,000 in 1919. And last year more than a million and a half barrels of apples were sent abroad, even with conditions not the best.

While the beef exports in recent years have been decreasing there has been an increasing pork export. Last year one-fifth of our pork product went abroad. For better breeds there is developing a growing market in South America where hog production has never been given really serious consideration until in comparatively recent years. Breeders of these animals, however, must offer none but the highest class of animals. The South American is more concerned about the breeding of the animal than in its price. He pays liberally for what suits him. Breeders interested in South America should communicate with the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

"HOW LONG WILL SILAGE KEEP?"

This question is often asked, but I have never heard it answered; and I am inclined to believe that we do not know the answer. Most silo users find their ensilage gone all too soon, and they are not so much interested in how long it can be kept as they are in how to make it hold.

out until the new crop. I do not think this question has ever been made the subject of an experiment, though the Kansas station reports keeping silage for five years, and we have a large number of records where farmers have kept it for several years. I will not take time or space to give these reports in detail, but will record a test which recently came to my attention. E. Snodgrass, of Tama, Neb., filled a 10x30 silo in the Fall of 1911, putting in fairly matured corn which would probably yield about 45 bushels per acre. The corn was in the early, dent stage with stalk and leaves still green. It was cut to one-quarter inch and well tramped in the silo by three men. Mr. Snodgrass contemplated buying a bunch of cattle and feeding during the winter. On account of an unfavorable market he did not buy the stock, and for a number of years, for some reason, did not use the silage. In the Fall of 1919 he purchased from his neighbors a bunch of feeding cattle and opened his then 8 year old silage. He was much surprised to find only a top layer of spoiled silage. He started feeding this silage with alfalfa hay and a small amount of grain. He was interested to note that though many of the cattle had never tasted silage, they soon learned to eat it and preferred it to any other feed. He was also very much gratified with the splendid progress made by the feeders. They not only made good use of their food, but they showed excellent gains. After the silage was fed out the cattle were marketed and brought a high price on the market, the buyers stating that they were in excellent condition for economic killing.

Enchanting Evening Headdress

IT WOULD seem that every clever girl may indulge herself in a variety of pretty coiffure ornaments, head bands and dance hats to enhance her evening dress. Nothing does more or even so much as the headdress to make an evening toilette a triumph and the evening headdress of the present season is not intricate or at all difficult to make. One is up to the minute in style with a wreath of leaves in silver, gold or bronze about the brows, finished with a splash of brown inlaid in full, airy loops at the back, like the lovely affairs sponsored by Paris shown in the picture, and anyone can make it.

Wreaths of gold have set against a band of brown silk, blue and finished with a butterfly bow of brown ribbon, and a "Moulin Rouge" dress of which two views appear in the picture. The wheels are centered with black jewels—rhinestone or brown opal, and the black jewels are very popular. They are shown in hideous antiquity and other stones and can usually be found in fancy goods departments. The continued popularity of brown makes it one of the brightest. For several seasons evening headdress and evening hats have been finished with it, evidently to the satisfaction of those who wear them. Very youthful wearers care less for it than their elders, but mock jewels are greatly to their liking. For them there are lovely wreaths of small, metallized flowers, with just color enough and just shimmer enough to be enticing and, of course, they are equipped with more splendid affairs made of pearl beads and rhinestones—but these belong to wearers who have the poise required to carry them well. Youth would better stick to its blossoms and leaves in wreaths and rhinestones—especially its rhinestones. They offer a world of opportunity for beautiful evening headdresses. There are gay and splendid metal headbands among them that may be brought about the head and tied in a bow. They are so gorgeous in themselves that even so simple an arrangement results in a touch of magnificence to finish off the toilette.

The ancient Greeks, like modern chemists, said there were four elements or forces in which matter could exist—fire, air, water and earth. The Pythagoreans added a fifth, which they called ether, more subtle and pure than fire. This element, which flew upwards at creation, and out of which the stars were made, was called the fifth essence, hence quintessence or "fifth essence" means the most subtle extract of a body that can be produced.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid

When you wake up with backache, and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and foggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them. 'Ke you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

WHO CAN ESCAPE CALUMNY?

How Chicago Lawyer's Quick Wit Got Him Out of Somewhat Embarrassing Situation.

"There's a lawyer in my town," says a member of the Chicago bar, "who is sometimes forgetful, but never at a loss to right himself."

"Once he had been engaged to plead the cause of an offender and he absent-mindedly forgot to do so."

"I know the fellow at the bar and he bears the character of being a most consummate and impudent scoundrel. At this point someone whispered to him that the prisoner was his client when he immediately continued."

"But what great and good man ever lived who was not calumniated by many of his contemporaries?"

THE BLUE DRESS

By BERTHA HERMAN.

"Very well, if you are going to be so snobbish as that you can have your old ring back! So there!" Tossing a beautiful diamond ring from her, and with a bang of the porch door May flew up the stairs to her room. There, standing before the mirror, her face aflame and her eyes wonderfully blue, she said:

"Well, I'm glad of it! I'm glad of it! To think I might have married such a mean, unreasonable thing!"

The difficulty was the eternal lover's quarrel. Bob was going away for several weeks on a business trip to Detroit, and had asked May to cancel the bungalow affair that they had promised to attend the following week. Now dad had just given May a new summer outfit, all the beautiful, soft, silky things a normal girl craves. In special evidence was her dear little blue georgette evening gown, massed in tulle, in which May looked more like an ethereal fairy than an ordinary girl. To give up the thought of wearing that dress was beyond reason!

B-r-r-r-ring! The telephone bell tinkled loudly. In an excited voice May answered the phone, thinking it possibly might be Bob. If it were, she would—no, she wouldn't—yes, she would just hang right up!

"Hello, May! Yes, this is Ida. Ida Scholl. Did you hear what the club is doing? Didn't you? Oh! We're going to have a camp. Yes, with tents 'n everything. Yes, out in Maine. Sure all the girls will be there. You'll come, too? Great! Will I sign up for you? For the whole month of August. That's fine. We've only one week to wait. I'm so excited. Isn't it thrilling?"

May hung up, after receiving this news, and clasped the result. Yes, she was glad she gave Bob back his ring. She wondered if he took it. She had flung it out on the porch. He might be fool enough to walk off and leave it there. Some impulse prompted her to run out and see if the ring were still there. Of course he took it. Well, she would go away to camp and have an exceedingly good time with the girls and forget him. He was a mean thing anyway. Possibly she might meet some other here there. Ah, romance was stirring within her! Wouldn't it be wonderful to show Bob that she could not be trifled with!

The first of August found a happy group of effervescent youth at North station. Weren't they going out to camp, and weren't they going to have a wonderful time? One little girl in a pink linen dress and big blue eyes looked a little more serious than the others, but she too had the delightful look of expectancy on her face.

One perfectly incomparable week full of all the experiences with which a young girl's mind is filled, gentlemen and the like had already slipped by to the regret of most of them. To May, however, it seemed as though the day were made of about 72 hours and the week of almost 180 days. Her thoughts were constantly turning homeward, and especially to the scene on her porch two weeks before. Could she stick it out, the four weeks away from home and him? Did he ever think of her? Was he going out with other girls? Should she write to him and tell him she was sorry? Oh—what was she to do!

Another week passed brimful of pleasure for Ida, Bess, Hilda and the rest, but painfully dull for May. The next evening Ida laid her hand on May's shoulder and whispered something in her ear.

"Is that true?" asked May, a new light suddenly aglow in her eyes.

"Yes, and he didn't even have to go to Detroit. He hasn't gone out with anyone, not even the boys, once since you left, and he feels perfectly miserable. It'll do him good, though. He will appreciate you more when you get back, although, goodness knows, you were the one who always started the quarrels."

The morning of the third week dawned bright and clear. Six o'clock they all went in for a dip. Everyone was there but May. They called for her, blew the bugle time and time again, but no May responded. Dripping wet from swimming, they all rushed into her tent, intending to awaken her and pull her down to the stream. The bed was empty, but stuck up in her mirror was a note which read:

"Girls: Don't call me a quitter. Bob is lonesome and so am I. Just had to go back. You know. May."

They knew.

Feast Days in Seville.

Seville celebrates many feast days, but none more typically than that of Corpus Christi. Throughout Spain this church holiday calls for parades, but Seville finds no fete day—whether religious or secular—complete without a bull fight and dancing, and so her program includes the spectacle of the bull ring and a strange dance seen nowhere else in Spain.

The parade is the big religious event of the day. Long before it starts an excited populace crowds the line of march. Roofs, balconies and windows are filled with dark Spanish señoritas and their cavaliers, dressed offener than not in the unromantic garb of modern fashion. Flags and damask hangings lead to the streets a touch of carnival atmosphere, intensified by the crowd's display of fiery and its tolerant and carefree holiday manner.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(G. 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 20

THE WISE AND FOOLISH VIRGINS.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 25:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of Man cometh—Matt. 25:13.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 25:27-28, 24:42, Eph. 6:10-20, 1 Tim. 6:17-19. PRIMARY TOPIC—Being Ready. JUNIOR TOPIC—Being Ready. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Prepared for Emergencies. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christian Watchfulness.

This lesson is a part of the well known Oliver discourse, giving a prophetic view of the course of time from its utterance, just before the crucifixion to the second advent of Christ. The order of events in that time are, roughly speaking, as follows:

1. The moral condition of the world during Christ's absence (24:1-14). This is the period covered by the parable of chapter 13.
2. The appearance of the Antichrist (24:15-26).
3. The great advent (24:27-31), in which there will be mighty convulsions of nature, the mourning of the earth's tribes, and the gathering of the elect.
4. Warnings to God's people in view of the great advent (24:32-51), the time of advent unknown and unexpected.
5. Instructions to saints in view of the unexpectedness of His coming (25:1-13).
6. The judgment of the nations (25:31-46).

The present lesson is one of the two parables designed for the instruction of the saints in view of the coming of the Christ. It has a continuous application in the present time (1 Thess. 4:16-18; Titus 2:11-13).

1. The Foolish Virgins Took Lamps But No Oil With Them. (v. 3).

1. Lamps signify Christian profession (Matt. 5:16), and oil, the Holy Spirit (Zech. 4). Having the lamps and no oil shows that they were professors of religion without possessing its reality. As soon as a man is regenerated the Holy Spirit takes up His abode with him. The proof that one is a child of God is that he has the Holy Spirit dwelling within him. If any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of His. (Rom. 8:9). The foolish virgins may have been of good moral character, but they were unregenerated.

2. The wise virgins possessed both lamps and oil (v. 4). They made a profession and backed it with a real life of righteousness. These are the true believers. Both the wise and the foolish virgins slumbered and slept. Their eyes had grown heavy and they fell under the spell of sleep (v. 5). This shows that as the Christian age lengthened the real and professing church would cease looking for the coming of the Lord. It is unspeakably sad that so many even of God's saints, wise virgins, should give up the expectancy of the return of the Lord.

3. The Coming Bridegroom (vv. 6-12).

1. The midnight cry (v. 6). In the midst of the night when all were asleep the cry was made, "Behold the bridegroom cometh, go ye out to meet him." How sad it is that the church has lost her hope, is not waking and watching for the return of her Lord!

2. Activity of the virgins (v. 7). They all arose and trimmed their lamps. There will be great activity when the Lord comes, on the part of both the real Christians and those who only make a profession. The professing Christians will then realize that they lack that which is essential to entrance to the marriage feast.

3. The foolish request the wise to share their oil (vv. 8, 9). The revelation of Christ will make manifest the genuineness of our religion and expose the folly of mere profession. When the Lord comes it will be too late to mend one's ways.

4. The wise enter to the marriage (v. 10). While the foolish were seeking to amend their ways trying to buy oil, the bridegroom came and those who were ready were admitted to the marriage.

5. The pitiful position of the foolish (v. 11). They begged the Lord to open the door that they might enter to the marriage feast. No one can open that door but the Lord.

6. The awful judgment (v. 12). The Lord declares "I know you not." Those who put off the personal contact with Jesus until that day shall be shut out from the presence of Christ.

III. The Solemn Obligation (v. 13).

"Watch, for ye know not the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh."

No One Absolute.

God has made no one absolute. The rich depend on the poor, as well as the poor on the rich. The world is but a magnificent building, all the stones are gradually cemented together. No one subsists by himself alone—Fettham.

Must Deal With Sin.

We may forget or ignore Him or keep our minds from dwelling on the thought of Him, we cannot be entering into peace with Him while sin is kept unadvised with, cherished in our hearts.

Rompers for the Tiny Girl

THE forehand seamstress that keeps her needle busy doing spring sewing in the heart of winter, is concerned with new styles for the little folks just now. Everything for them may be made up for the coming spring and be out of the way when the time comes to consider things needed by their elders. An early Easter this year will put this time a little forward and thanks to the specialists who make children's clothes, there are plenty of new models in everything they wear and plenty of good patterns to guide the home seamstress in her work. The stores are full of tiny wash fabrics and the fashion papers about 2 and 4 ports and pictures.

Rompers are so easily gaining in favor for tiny girls, the emancipation of their sex from any hindrance appears in such droll affairs as are shown in the picture above. Colored cotton goods and coarse linens make sturdy and pretty garments in which the small folks can run and tumble about to their hearts' content, and the designers give rompers much of their attention. Most of the models turned out are suited to either sex, but occasionally one comes across something that has a distinctly feminine flavor like the amusing example in the picture in which the needlessly widened up lines bespeak a feminine touch. The neck and sleeves are finished with the buttonhole-stitched caps. A little simple fancy stitching outlines a simulated yoke and calls attention to the exaggerated hip lines.

I would not it I could repeat
A life which still is good and sweet;

HAVE YOU A FIRELESS COOKER?

Any housekeeper in country or city cannot afford to be without a cooker.

The patented ones made to hold the heat for cooking, and baking are of course the best but one may make one from a box, a candy pull or an old trunk. The outside cover should be tight and the packing material, any packable non-conducting material, like paper, excelsior, cork, sawdust or even hay. In these days of economy a bale of hay was placed in the woodshed of one country woman, she cut out a piece for a good-sized utensil with a tight cover, made a cushion of hay and used that home-made cooker all the season, then the cow ate it. Surely this is a good type of economy.

If a box or pull is to be used, pack the lining firmly around the utensil to be used. One which is tapering toward the bottom removes better from the well. Make a collar of cardboard to fit the top and leave space to slip the pull in and out easily. For a cushion use any of the above material. If the well or pocket to hold the pull is lined with asbestos paper it will save heat.

Cereal cooked in a fireless if one has soapstones to put into the cooker or if not set into a dish containing boiling water will be cooked much better, tastes better and is much more wholesome than the twenty minutes to a half hour usually given such dishes on the stove. Get the cereal cooking at night and when boiling hot put into the cooker. In the morning just reheating is all that is needed to serve a hot well-cooked food. The soapstone dish which may be used in the fireproof cookers increases the heat as it can be heated hotter than the boiling point and when shut up in the cooker retains heat six to eight hours. Let it get very hot but not red, for fear of cracking. Place one at the bottom and one on top of a dish of meat and one may bake any roast to a turn. Breads, pies, puddings and cakes may be baked equally well.

POULTRY NOTES

One bird in hand is not worth two birds in the bush if the bush bird is a hatchling.

A first-class table fowl should have a long, deep keel bone, the longer and deeper the better.

Don't keep old hens. A two-year-old Leghorn hen may be worth keeping, but a two-year-old Rock hen is usually a loss.

Indications Are That Legion National Officers Will Not Take "Positive Stand."

"Blue law" agitation is apparently obnoxious to a large number of members of the American Legion, according to expressions of opinion received in letters at national headquarters. National officers have been called upon to take a "positive stand," particularly against those who would do away with the cigarette.

As individual citizens and voters our membership can support or oppose what it sees fit. But as one national officer of the Legion "so long as they conform to our national constitution, I think the vote in however, is against intolerance. The national organization of the Legion has no time for this controversy however. We have our hands full in our effort to make life better it should be for the disabled.

Gold Found Almost Everywhere.
Gold, though the most precious of metals in common use, is by far the most widely distributed. There is hardly any country on earth, from the equator to the poles, where it is not found. It is dry-blown out of the scorching sands of western Australia, blasted from the cliffs of frozen Spitzbergen and washed from the Arctic beach at Cape Nome.

Howling Dogs Appreciated.
Persians love dogs because they are supposed to lie awake nights and drive away the demons that wait for the souls of the dead, so the more the dog howls at night the surer he is to defeat the demons and the more he is appreciated by his owner.

SUFFERED SIX YEARS

Mrs. Stoll Tells Women How She Found Relief From Pain

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered for six years with pain every month, had vomiting spells the first two days, and was unfit to do my work. I read in your little book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took the medicine with satisfactory results. I am a midwife and recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and my daughters take it. You may publish these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LOUISE STOLL, 609 W. York St., Phila., Pa.

It is not natural for women to suffer as did Mrs. Stoll, and in nine cases out of ten it is caused by some displacement or derangement of the system which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes, because it acts as a natural restorative.

Every woman who is subject to cramps, headaches, nervous spells, backache or those dreadful bearing-down pains should profit by Mrs. Stoll's experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and if there is any complication write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., about her health.

The layman cannot always tell whether he needs glasses or not. His eyes may have become slightly infected by the injection of some foreign substance or he may have so strained them so that all they need is a rest. But if your eyes do cause you any pain or annoyance it is better that you come here and let an experienced optometrist render his verdict. You will not be advised to buy glasses unless you need them.

OVER the horizon everywhere those attractive and sometimes confusing coat dresses are emerging in a way that promises them a growing vogue. At first it seemed that they were designed to please women who long for slender lines when nature has decreed them opulent curves, but the slender women have seized upon the coat dress also finding it just the thing in which to reveal their fashionable fitness. It does much for both types of figure and therefore is being developed into afternoon as well as street models, although its career began in the strictly tailored class.
The model shown at the right of the picture above belongs to the planned tailored class and is conveniently coming to a full figure. It depends upon hand-made embroidery on the collar and deep cuffs and about the three-quarter length sleeves to give it a rich flavor and has a narrow double belt of the material fastened with a small buckle at the front. The skirt portion is redeemed from plainness by simulated panels at the sides having round, cloth-covered buttons set in them.
At the left a dressier model appears in a cloth coat worn over a satin undershirt having satin sleeves. A folded collar of metallic brocade ribbon and pointed cuffs of the same lift it into the class of afternoon frocks and the slit at the sides of the skirt portion, outlined with fancy braid gives additional interest. The belt is of the cloth.
The combination of two materials in these coat dresses is worth considering by women who have the remodeling of frocks in mind. Like the tunic dress, worn over underskirts in another material, the coat dress lends itself to combinations.

Legionnaires Are Rushing to Pay 1921 Post Dues; Many New Members Being Added.

The 10,000 post adjutants of the American Legion, according to reports reaching national headquarters from all over the country, are finding themselves now in the busiest weeks of the year as regards work.

The rush of Legionnaires to get in their 1921 post dues within the time limit set, with the penalty of being dropped from membership, if delinquent after that date, piled necessary clerical and other detail work onto the shoulders of post adjutants in an unprecedented manner.

To judge by the returns thus far available, the list of men to be dropped from membership for non payment of their 1921 post dues within the specified time will be only a small fraction of the Legion and will be more than offset by the thousands of new members already obtained in the membership drives of various departments.
